IRON BUILDINGS-BOGARDUS .- Great is Bogardus. Bogardus of iron buildings. Bogardus who, first and foremest, without authority, astecedent, antiquity, to back him, made an iron house. From the time of The House that Jack Built, no edifice-not including the architectural Titans, St. Peter's and St Paul's, the Coliseum, and the Cologne Cathedral -so deserves an epic as the Bogardus house of iron. For since the Ark floated on Mount Ararat, and Noah and his eailor. boys, Shem, Ham, and Japhet, split logs and built shanties—through all the hard labors and eager, intrepid inventions to make complete the third leg of men's necessitious tripod-food, raiment, shelterthrough the Egyptian Colossus era, the Greek Grase epocts, the Middle age heaven-aspiring times of architecture—did it ever enter the brain of man to make a house of metal—of copper before iron was used-of iron when it became the propeller and measurer of civilizations, entering into every tool, from the needle to the ax; into every machine, from the rat-trap to the locomotive. The cothes of the infant were sewed with a needle made of iren; the grave of the aged was dug with a spade made of iren; iron formed, permested, vitalized, and gkrified everything in civil zation, from the least anto the greatest, from the hell-dealing cancon to the heaven-telling church-organ; and yet it was neve used for a house natil Bogardus so applied its possi-bilities to his warehouse, corner of Centre and Duane streets. He built the house, and patented it. Whenit was erected, great were the doubts as to its excellences and endurances. The lightning, it was thought, in looking about for an object of assault and battery, would play the celestial short boy, and smash the Bogardusian strange invention into the consistency of Saisn's belmet, after that nine days' fall so warmly described by Milton. And those high contracting powers, the frosts, acting against the larger expansive mes, the heats, would soon crack it like a condemned kottle. But these foreshadowings of evil were not realised. Begardus, and the house that Bogardus built triumphed. Success breeds imitation. One hea house begat another. They became the fashion for warehouses and shops here and in England. They did not dispossess brick, nor stene, nor marble; but they made their mark, and had their triumphs in numbers. But they did not step with business. Temples of Art—the High-Changes of International Intellects and Hearts—were made of iron. The Crystal Palaces sprung like the balloons of Architecture in their circular graces and serial beauties. Sydenham Palace, too, the wonder of modern builders as to extent, is one of the triumphs of iron buildings, the offspring of the original of Bogardus's hrain. If our Crystal Palace had been all of fron it would not have burnt up shavings-wise-an mormous truth, this, but too late to be of service, except for the fature.

Why have we sung of Bogardus and Iron? Why have we given these lines on a man and his work aprepos of nothing in particular, which is contrary to the journalistic rule, never to harp on a theme except one of the day—the immediate topic, at least, to be used as a text, whatever sinussities and divagations the plume may take in the course of its flight? These questions are premature. We have not done so. We have been true to the journalistic religion, abiding by the motto-carpe diem. We canticled Bogardus and Iron because the Original House built by him is now being taken down on account of the widening of Duare street. Whose would witness the portion that remains, and be enabled to say to his grandchildren that he has seen the first iron house will pay the place a visit. That is, if he has not seen it already.

LAYING THE CORNER-STONE OF MADISON-AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH .- The ceremony of laying the corper-stone of the new Baptist Church now being crected at the corner of Madison avenue and Thirty-mentioned by Dr. Hagne's congregation, was performed yesterday afternoon with appropriate services.

About 400 persons, of both sexes, were present. On the platform were several Baptist elergymen, among whom were Drs. Hague, Sommers, Dowling, and others, with Dr. Thompson of the Broadway Tabernacle. After a good deal of delay, the services were opened with a chant from the CXXIId Psalm, followed by a brief prayer. The singing of a hymn fol-lowed, after which Dr. Sommers offered an impressive

Dr. Thompson of the Broadway Tabernacle was then introduced by Dr. Hague. He said that the corner-stone they were about to lay was not regarded which upheld the Temple of Christ. His remarks were brief, but animated, and breathing a spirit of genuine liberality.

Dr. Dowling followed in a few appropriate words, and the speaking was closed with a spirited address by Dr. Hague. The speaker responded to the liberal spirit of Dr. Thompson, welcomed to his communion all sincere believers in Christ, dwelt at some length upon the time the Baptists had existed as a denomination, congratulated all around him upon their enjoyment of a free country and an open Bible, and ferred with eloquent emphasis to the historical fact that Thomas Jefferson had drawn his idea of a demotratic form of government from the ecclesiastical polity of a Baptist church in his own neighborhood. The first Beptist church in this city was erected just one hundred years ago (1759), and now in 1859 they were participating in the services of laying the cornerstone of the latest.

The address was well received. The service of laying the corner-stone then commenced. Dr. Hague ceited the memorials in their final resting place within the inclosure of the stone. They consisted of The Chronicle of this city, The Scientific American, The Examiner, THE TRIBUNE, Times, Herald, and other city papers. The Doxology was then sung, and Dr. Newman of the M. E. Church pronounced the benediction. The main building of the new church will be 68 feet wide by 112 deep, including two towers 20 by 20 feet. One tower will be 100 feet in hight, and the other 80 feet. The north west corner tower will have a steeple 80 feet high. The building in the rear of the main edifice will be 30 by 90 feet, with a basement, the first and second stories of which are designed for chapel and school purposes. A basement is also contemplated under the main building. The interior of the main building will be 50 feet high, in which there will be a large chancel, 10 by 30 feet, to receive the pulpit. There will also be two large side galleries, with an organ gallery. The style of architecture will be Byzantine, and the material of Phila-delphia brick, with brown-stone trimmings. The chapel is to be finished next January, and the whole building in about a year from this time, at a supposed aggregate cost of $100,000.

MINOR CITY ITEMS .- A course of four lectures will be delivered by Prof. O. M. Mitchel at the Calvary Baptist Church, West Twenty-third street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues, commencing this evening, on the Astronomy of the Bible, under the auspices of the Gillette Young Men's Association At a meet ing of the Board of Directors of the Mechanics' Bank, the death of Mr. Charles M. WHAT IS AN INDECENT PICTURE ?-The stereoscopic pictures of feminine attractions usually concealed, the exposure of which in the windows along Broadway we have so often reprehended, were the subject of legal proceedings yesterday. The Federal law prohibits the importation of anything obscene or indecent. All these pictures are imported, most of them from England, and they constitute nearly one-eighth of all the atereoscopic groups sold in this country. The pictures placed before the United States District Court yester-day were seized by the Custom-House officers as indecent, and the question was raised as to what constistituted indecency in a stereogopic picture. The officials object to liberal exhibitions of long hosiery, and a great mass of testimony was taken as to weat constitutes indecency. One witness had thought they were indelicate, nearly as much so as the ballet; he would not take his children to see either. Most of the dealers testified that they had taken no pains to conceal this style of pictures; that ladies, as well as gentlemen, examined and bought them, and that nothing was said by anybody as to their decency or indecency. in any superstitious sense, but as symbolical of that The importer in this case had bought of two English against sending him anything immodest. The case is still pending.

SECURED SEATS .- A paragraph appeared in THE TRIBUNE on Friday last, stating that Mr. Joseph Seagrist had ted for having altered tickets of admission to Stuart's Winter Garden. Such was the case, but the complaint was sub. sequently withdrawn. We have been shown a letter from Mr.
Smart addressed to Mr. Scarrist, which entirely exonerates the latter gentleman from all blame in the matter, the alteration of the tickets having been made in the office of the theater.

Connection.-We are authorized by Mr. Walmsley, Warden of the Penitertiary, Blackwell's Island, to state that the reported escape of a convict named Williams from that institution is utterly destitute of foundation. No convict has escaped during the time he has been in charge.

THE CENTRAL PARK ELM TREES.

To the Editor of The N. Y. Tribun-Sir: In your notice of this subject, several days since, there are several very important errors. Firstly, you say,
"At the present moment at least nine tenths of the whole number of trees planted, several hundred in all, are dead or dying." Dris is an error. All the trees planted number 149, and no such proportion as nine tenths are dead. It is true, a considerable proportion are dead, but no greater proportion than generally attends planting large trees. I am informed that in the Bots de Boulogne a very much greater proportion are last. Secondly, you say, "Mr. Ryder now seeks to recover $10 for each tree planted by him, on the ground that the decay of the trees is due to the extreme richness of the soil on the Central Park." To this I have to say, the Board of Commissioners of the Central Park made a very careful contract with me, by which I was to guarantee the trees for two years, and take up and replace such as did not thrive. I have given security for the performance of my contract, and propose to proceed immediately to replace the lost trees, from winstever cause they did not encosed. Thirdly, you say that "he (I) will at once commence proceedings against the Commissioners." To this I say I have no controversy with the Commissioners," To this I say I have no controversy with treat the cause of the failure of the trees was not mine in any respect, I have no doubt they will do me justice in the premises. I regret that so many misstatements should have got into the papers on this subject. This is an error. All the trees planted number 140, and no so

Runaway.—On Sunday evening a party of several persons were driving furiously down Broadway, when two of the horses took fright and ran away, dashing violently into three other carriages, breaking them all to pieces. The horses them took the sidewalk at Forty seventh street, still running at a formous rate, knocking down a Mr. and Mrs. Casey. Mr. Casey had four ribs braken, and Mrs. Casey had several teeth knocked out and was otherwise seriously injured. They were conveyed to the Station-Gouse, where medical assistance was rendered them, after which they were conveyed to their residence. Two horses and three wagons are in possession of the police awaring owners.

Robbert.—About 10 o'clock on Sunday night, as Berjamin Hardy was walking through Forty fourth street, near Eleventh avenue, he was stopped by two young men, who asked him some question, and then instantly matched his wach and ran away. Hardy's crise brought Officer Hoyt to his assistance, and he succeeded in surveiting a notorious young thief named Benjamin Duffy, in whose possession the watch was found. The officer asbequently arrested John Murphy, who was identified as the other person conged in the robbery. They were both lecked up to await an examination.

HIGHWAY OUTRAGES IN NEW-ROCHELLE. - As Mrs. HIGHWAY OUTRACKS IN NEW-ROCHELE.—As Mrs. Robert B. Rocesvelt was returning from a visit near Prospect Hill, driving alone recently, she was struck by a stone and blinded, but not stroned. A man who had been consented runber out and tried to set into the wagen, and when she hit him with the whip he struck het several blows with a club. She whoped up the horse and escaped, but, having several infless to drive, reached New-Rochelle greatly exhausted, and almost insensible. Her wounds are pronounced not to be damperous. The next day a woman living near the place was attacked in her own house, but the robber fied on the approach of some person.

NEW-JERSEY ITEMS.

A MAN MISSING-SUPPOSED FOUL PLAY .- Considrable alarm is felt for the safety of Mr. Daniel Keenan, who has been missing from his home in Bergen since Thursday last. On that evening he left Myers's Hotel, on the Newark Plank-road, about 9 o'clock, for home, crossing to the Bergen Point Plank-road, through a piece of woods, and was last seen walking along the road in the vicinity of the woods. Mr. Keenan was well known in Jersey City, where he made a fortune in street contracting and then retired from business. On Thursday last he was known to have with him over $150, and this, together with the fact that his friends can find no trace of him after he was seen on the plank-road, leads to the supposition that he has been robbed and put out of the way. Mr. Keenan was 45 years of age, of sandy complexion, stout built, and about 5 feet 8 inches in hight.

MONDAY, Oct. 10-F. M. The Stock market opened for the week with marked ctivity, and with considerable firmness. As the call proceeded, however, the free offerings of cash stool and sellers' options had an unfavorable effect, and the firmness was lost, and the market had the appearance of great weakness. On the second call, however, the buyers exhibited more courage, and the market generally advanced, closing with and upward feeling. When the figures of the Bark Statement were known they were looked upon as unexpectedly favorable, and they were looked upon as unexpectedly favorable. As in the morning. This was partly preduced by the purchases of some of the shorts, who were salarmed by the turn in the market, and came in to realize, fearing their prefits might be swept away. The bears were free sellers of the Western shares during the morning. History of the seller setting the morning of the shorts, who were saver free sellers of the Western shares during the morning. History of the seller setting the morning of the shorts are the seller that the present bears of the erosted does not justify dividends, and the prospects for the traffic of the coming Winter are not, under the low prices of grain, favorable. At the market—a large portion of the transactions being in cash tooks, or on very short buyers' officians. We cannot learn that contiders are taking much interest in the stock movement—the speculative action of the coming with the seller sellers. There is not much doing in exchange for the Wedresday steamer, and rates are heavy. Sterling is 1601 #110. France 5.161 #5.151. The supply of bills is fair with small demand. The movement in Cotton is now fairly active at the South, and it is to be hoped that the supply of bills from that source will keep rates for sterling below the specie shipping point.

Freights to Liverpool: 183 bales Cotton, Petermer, at 189-32d.; 1,800 bbls. Rosin, at 2s. To Lordon: 400 bbls. Resin at 2s. 9d. P 280 fb. A vessel from the South to Windward, with 120,000 feet of Lumber, at $10 50 V M., port charges paid. A vessel from South Side Cubs to New-York, with Ma-hegany, on and under deck, at $11.

The business of the Sub-Treasury was: Receipts, $405,210 81; for Customs, $76,000; Payments, $441,656 69; Balance, $4,677,642 52.

The week opens with an ample supply of money and without change in rates. On call the quotations are 5; 27 P cent, the transactions below 6 being very unfrequent. Short paper, which is scarce, passes freely at 6264 & cent, and two name paper running up to May and June at 7 28 P cent. In the discount houses the supply of good paper does not equal the demand.

The annual election of the Eric Railroad takes place to-morrow. The "Administration" ticket, which will probably be elected, is as follows:

Samuel Marsh, Daniel Drew, Dudley S Oregory, John Arnot of Einira, William B. Stidmore, Hermann Gelpeke, Raiph Messe, D. A. Cushman, Ambroes B. Murray of Gosbon, William Evans of England, George T Cobb, Robert H. Berdel, William F Splan of England, J. C. Bancroft Davis, Nathaniel Marah, Henry Shedden, Henry L. Pierson.

The new names in this are Messrs. Evans, Splatt,

Davis, Shelden, Pierson, and N. Marsh, in the place of Messrs. Alburtis, Brown, Moran, Smith, Hall, and Bruce. The only other ticket we hear of is the one we published some days since, and which is reprinted in the circular given below. It seems to be very proper that the English interest should be represented in the Board, as they are in the first-named ticket, by the English Committee which has recently arrived here, and the ticket appears to be entirely unexceptionable.

We hear as yet of but little inquiry for gold bars for export this week. The business of the Clearing Hense was $24,373,000.

The Covington and Lexington Railroad was sold at Lexington, Ky., under a decree of foreclosure, on the 5th inst. The first bid was made by J. F. D. Lanier, of this city, of $1,520,000, for and in behalf of the holders of the $1,000,000 2d mortgage bonds—that sum covering the lift and 2d mortgage debts, interests, and costs. The biddings finally ran up to $2,125,000, at which price it was struck off to R. B. Bowen, esq. of Cincipnati, and other parties in Kentucky. The bidding was quite spirited-there being three parties or combinations wishing to purchase. The Cincinnati interest finally prevailed, much to the benefit of that city. This read is doing a good business; its receipts for the past year reach $500,000, being $55,000 over the year previous. The line will now be put in good order. Larger receipts are expected for the year to come. This sale puts the 2d mortgage bonds on high ground, and insures their payment.

The Cincinnati Gazette of the 8th says:

"The first new Corn of the season was received on the 6th by the Indianapolis and Cincinnati Railroad, and we may hereafter look for heavy receipts by that road, the crop in Southern Indiana being very large.

The weekly statement of Bank averages is satisfactory in the specie line-much more than was anticipated. The contributions from the interior must have been larger than was estimated. The loan line shows a conservative action on the part of the banks which is calculated to inspire confidence in the stability of the money market. The lesson of 1857 has evidently not been lost upon bank managers. It has taught them that ability in a bank officer does not consist exclusively in making large dividends. The contraction of the deposit line continues, partly the result of the decrease in loans and partly of the activity of money in the crop movements at the West, which suges a drawing down of balances. The line is now lower than it has been since the commencement of

THE ERIE ELECTION.

The Stockholders' t cket for Directors, the ensuing year, of the New York and Erie Raltroad Company election, to be held at No. 45 Wall street, from II a. in to 2 p. in, on the 11th of October, 1830, is as follows: Nathaniel stars, Edward K. Alborris, Hermann Gelpcke, Daniel Drew, Edwin J. Srewen, Rome W. Wood, John A. Loqueer, David Ogden, G. W. Van Stveren, David Jones, Washington Mills, A. I. Cotheal, D. M. Haghen, and B. Bautram, all of New York City; Dudley S. Gragory, Jerwy City; Ambrise S. Murray, Gowben, N. Y., and John Arnot, Elinira, N. Y. Seven of them are now Directors, and one is the present Receiver of the Company. The nine new ones represent very large interest in the stock and securities of the Company, and if elected will use their best judgment and addition to protect the property of the Company and make it productive to the various classes of owners thereof. It is understood that a majority of the above named gentlemen are in favor of adopting a plan of compromite substantially as follows, although they are not pedged or committed as to its details:

The first, second and third mortrage bondholders to defer the payment of one vear's interest. The first merigage to defer said payment of one vear's interest. The first merigage to defer said prement of two years, the second off or three years, and the third for four years, and to receive for the coupous matering within three and four years. No dividends to be paid on stock of any little start merigane bonds to be converted into a preferred 7 per cost stock at their face and interest done.
